Conversations With Merwin is a literary conversation series hosted by Pulitzer Prize-winning poet W.S. Merwin that brings together renowned writers, poets, and scholars for intimate and thought-provoking discussions about poetry, literature, and the human experience.

In this series, Merwin engages in wide-ranging conversations with guests such as Robert Pinsky, Louise Glück, Jane Hirshfield, Robert Hass, and many others. The conversations explore the creative process, the nature of language, the role of poetry in society, and the enduring power of literature.

Conversations With Merwin is a unique and invaluable resource for anyone interested in poetry, literature, or the creative process. The conversations offer insights into the minds of some of the world's most celebrated writers and poets, and they provide a glimpse into the creative process that has produced some of the most enduring works of literature.

Praise for Conversations With Merwin

"Conversations With Merwin is a treasure trove of insights and wisdom from one of the greatest poets of our time. Merwin's conversations with other poets and writers are illuminating, thought-provoking, and inspiring." - Robert Pinsky, former U.S. Poet Laureate

"Merwin's conversations are a master class in the art of listening. He draws out the best in his guests, and the result is a series of conversations that are both deeply personal and universally resonant." - Louise Glück, Pulitzer Prize-winning poet

"Conversations With Merwin is a must-read for anyone interested in poetry, literature, or the creative process. Merwin's conversations are a gift to us all." - Jane Hirshfield, National Book Award-winning poet

About W.S. Merwin

W.S. Merwin (1927-2019) was an American poet, translator, and environmentalist. He won the Pulitzer Prize for Poetry twice, in 1971 and 1990, and the National Book Award for Poetry in 1975 and 1989. He was also appointed U.S. Poet Laureate from 1999 to 2001.

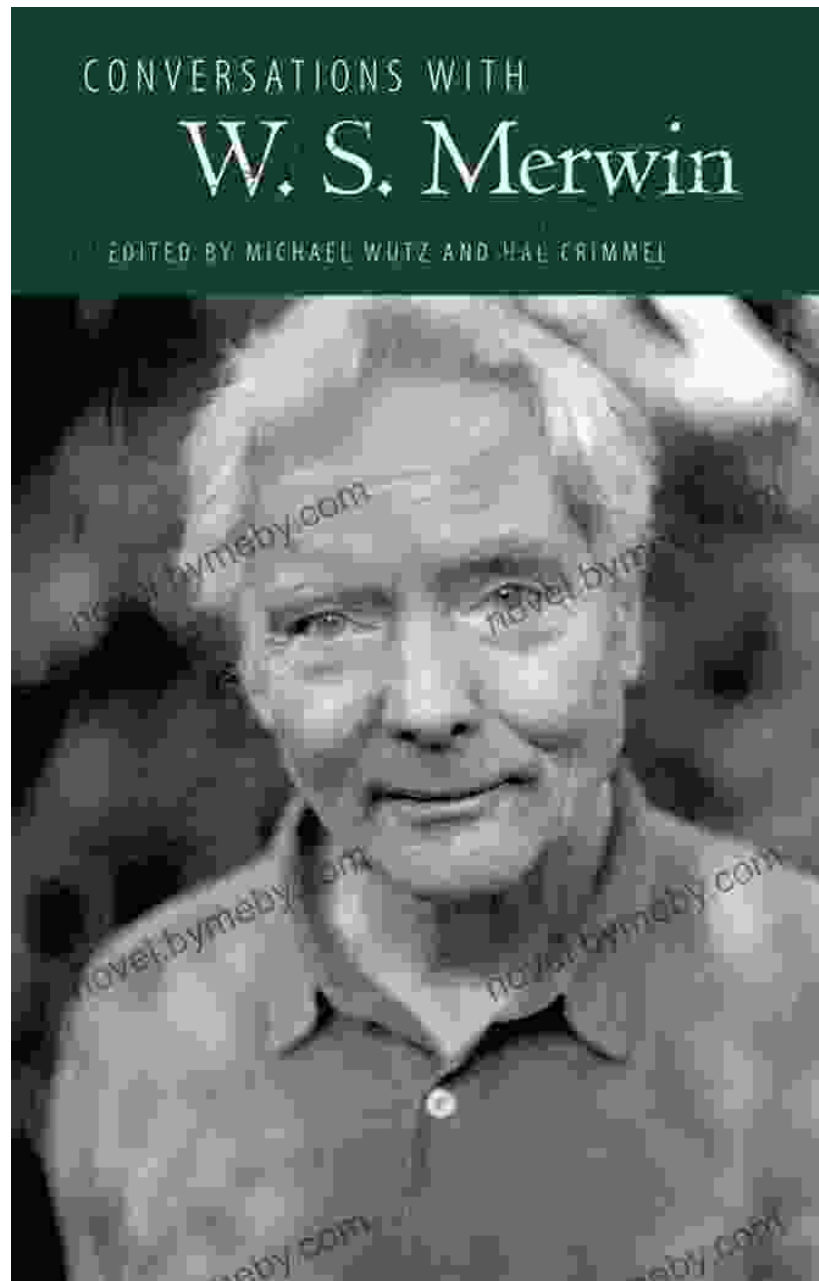

Merwin's poetry is known for its lyrical beauty, its philosophical depth, and its commitment to environmental conservation. He was a prolific writer, and his work has been translated into more than 30 languages.

Merwin was a generous mentor to many young writers, and he was also a tireless advocate for environmental protection. He founded the non-profit organization, The Merwin Conservancy, which works to preserve and protect endangered species and habitats.
